Trainee Patent Attorney – Chemistry – Melbourne

Phillips Ormonde Fitzpatrick has been at the forefront of intellectual property law in Australia since its establishment in 1888. The firm has offices in Melbourne, Sydney and Adelaide. An excellent opportunity exists to join the POF Group.

As part of a team with exceptional IP expertise, you will be exposed to an impressive local and international client base, as well being presented with the challenge of involvement in marketing and client development activities.

Within an environment that supports on-going professional and technical development, you will be encouraged and required to also attain business acumen and people and practice management skills.

Your honours degree qualification in a Chemistry related field (majors in organic, polymer or pharmaceutical chemistry), coupled with a PhD will ensure your strong candidacy.

A "best practice" study support policy is available while undertaking IP studies to gain registration as a Patent Attorney.
